SUMMER'S HERE!

Nature Journal Prompt

Continue your exploration of the area you call home. Look out off your porch, or back door, and draw a picture of the landscape. Make it less than a 1/4 page, in this case less is more. Now focus on some aspect in your yard and fill your page with that. It could be a pet, animal, plant, bug; anything that catches your attention.

Mammal Fun Fact

The pine marten (Martes americana) is a fierce cat-sized predator found in the forests of Yellowstone National Park. This is a very shy hunter. It eat squirrels and other small rodents, so watch the preys behaviors to catch a glimpse of this weasel-like animal. And while they are shy, they can also be very curious, looking at you from behind a tree trunk.

Biologists Set to Begin Grizzly Bear Captures for Research Purposes in Yellowstone National Park

Public reminded to heed warning signs

BOZEMAN - As part of ongoing efforts required under the Endangered Species Act to monitor the population of grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem, the U.S. Geological Survey, in conjunction with the National Park Service, is working to inform the public that pre-baiting and scientific capture operations are once again about to begin within Yellowstone National Park. Biologists with the Interagency Grizzly Bear Study Team (IGBST) will begin field captures on Aug. 28 and continue through Oct. 31. Capture operations can include a variety of activities, but all areas where work is being conducted will have primary access points marked with warning signs. It is critical that all members of the public heed these signs.

Monitoring of grizzly bear distribution and other activities are vital to ongoing recovery of grizzly bears in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. In order to attract bears, biologists use natural food sources such as fresh road-killed deer and elk. Potential capture sites are baited with these natural foods and if indications are that grizzly bears are in the area, culvert traps, or sometimes foot snares, will be used to capture the bears. Once captured, bears are handled in accordance with strict safety and animal care protocols developed by the IGBST and approved by the U.S. Geological Survey and the National Park Service.

Whenever bear capture activities are being conducted for scientific purposes, the area around the site will be posted with bright warning signs to inform the public of the activities occurring. These signs are posted along the major access points to the capture site. It is important that the public heed these signs and do not venture into an area that has been posted.

For more information regarding grizzly bear capture efforts, call the IGBST hotline at 406-994-6675. Information about the grizzly bear research and monitoring is available from the IGBST website: <https://www.usgs.gov/science/interagency-grizzly-bear-study-team>.

Fishing closures and restrictions lifted on most Montana rivers

HELENA – Effective today, all fishing restrictions and closure on rivers in Montana are lifted, with the exception of hoot owl restrictions on the Madison River and Sun River. Hoot owl fishing restrictions prohibit fishing each day between 2 p.m. and midnight. On the Madison River, hoot owl restrictions are in effect from the confluence with the Jefferson River to the Warm Springs Fishing Access Site. On the Sun River, hoot owl restrictions are in effect from the mouth of Muddy Creek to the Highway 287 Bridge. Angling restrictions are implemented based on several considerations: stream flow, water temperatures, angling pressure and other angling restrictions in the area that may divert use to waterways where circumstances are increasing stress on the fishery. For current information on restrictions and closures, go to fwp.mt.gov/news/current-closures-restrictions/waterbody-closures.

Bear Awareness Gardiner needs your help!

Want to learn about bears and help our community at the same time?

We are looking for volunteers to join Yellowstone Park's lead bear biologist, and Gardiner resident, Kerry Gunther to help keep our community safe, and our bears wild!

Please join us to help collect apples from the trees, and off the ground to make sure our local bears don't have a reason to visit this fall.

If you would like to have your trees picked and apples removed, or are willing to volunteer to help remove apples, please email Evan @ Evan@YellowstoneWildlifeGuideCompany.com

We are now offering an apple tree replacement program. The solution to bears coming to town for apples is to remove as many apple trees as possible from within town. If you choose to take down your tree, we will replace it with a non-fruit bearing tree in the spring. Please inquire if you have any questions, we'd love to help you bear safe your property!

Finally, we also have electric fencing we can loan out to properties who have fruit trees, gardens or chicken coops that need bear proofing. Supplies are limited, but we're happy to help! Please reach out to Evan with questions/interest.
