COME TO THE FOREST PLAN REVISION Public Meeting at the Gardiner Community Center, June 22, 2016 from 4:30 – 7:30 p.m. The Forest Plan is an overarching document that provides guidance for forest management on the Custer Gallatin National Forest for years to come. The second set of public meetings in this four-year process focuses on sharing where we are at in the assessment of existing conditions, our results to date, some preliminary results of what we need to change and provides an opportunity for the public a forum for sharing what they care about and want to see from the Forest. More detail information online at: www.fs.usda.gov/custergallatin and click on the upper right-hand quick link labeled forest plan revision. A virtual webinar option is also available, details online or see Custer Gallatin Facebook page.

May Visitation to Yellowstone Surpasses Previous Year

With the busy summer months still ahead, visitation to Yellowstone National Park for the first five months of 2016 is up 14.65 percent compared to the previous year. Visitation for May alone is up 15 percent.

All of the park's five entrances showed an increase in vehicles for the month of May compared to May 2015. The West Entrance recorded the largest increase in May, with 33,927 more vehicles than May 2015. The most striking increase in vehicle traffic this month was with buses. There were 48 percent more buses (594 vehicles) this May compared with May 2015.

While many factors could be at play, park managers point to the National Park Service's Centennial year, marketing and tourism promotions by the states of Montana and Wyoming, and lower gas prices as influences in the record number of visits to Yellowstone so far this year.

Detailed park visitation information and additional information on how these statistics are calculated is available online at <https://irma.nps.gov/Stats/Reports/Park>.

Mountain Sky Guest Ranch Distributes Over $450,000 in Grants to Montana Nonprofits

Emigrant, MT, June 9, 2016 –The Mountain Sky Guest Ranch Fund (the Fund), an affiliated fund of The Arthur M. Blank Family Foundation, issued more than $470,000 in grants to Montana-based nonprofit organizations earlier this week. Grants are focused on the most significant needs and opportunities in rural communities around youth empowerment, enhanced classrooms, and citizen leadership. The organizations and projects receiving grants were selected by volunteer Fund committee members made up of Mountain Sky Guest Ranch associates living and working in the community.

“The Fund is committed to supporting efforts that connect underserved youth to healthy opportunities and mentorship,” said Tawnya Rupe, director of the Mountain Sky Guest Ranch Fund. “We want to ensure that there are safe spaces for youth to thrive and positively connect with their peers and supportive adults.”

Big Brothers Big Sisters, Big Sky Youth Empowerment, Manhattan School Radio, and Shift Empowerment are a few organizations that foster youth self-esteem and strengthen ties to family and community by providing coaching and guidance to youth in Montana.

Also amongst the list of grants is a First Tee of MT, which is expanding into Gallatin Valley through a partnership with Headwaters Golf Course in Three Forks in an effort to promote life skills and leadership through the game of golf.

With resources being an essential component in providing innovative learning environments for students, The Fund committee established a grant to DonorsChoose.org, who will then partner with Livingston Education Foundation and Bozeman Schools Foundation to increase teacher awareness regarding this giving tool and cultivate new resources for classroom enhancements.

A $10,000 grant was also contributed to Gardiner Community Council for the Evening at the Arch: YNP celebrates the National Park Service centennial.

A $10,000 grant was also contributed to Gardiner Community Council for the Evening at the Arch: YNP celebrates the National Park Service centennial.

“We have been impressed by the synergy through citizen leadership and public/private partnerships in Gardiner to develop and implement the Gardiner Gateway revitalization project; Gardiner is in our back yard and its vitality is essential to the local economy,” said Rupe.

Gardiner Gateway, Phases I and II

Project Update
June 13, 2016

Construction activities are underway on the Gardiner Gateway, Phase I and II projects. The Phase I project straddles Yellowstone National Park and Park County, Montana in Gardiner, Montana. The Phase II project is in within Gardiner on Main Street, East Park Street and 1st street.

Crews are working on grading East Park Street and 1st street, excavation on East Main Street, and putting top soil down around the project area.

Construction on Main Street will consist of excavation to place drainage inlets and pipes, placement of grade D aggregate, and grading to bring the surface to the designed height.

Landscapers will place topsoil in the Yellowstone Association loop and around Arch Park. Next week the landscapers will place sod in the Arch Park area. The fence that surrounds Arch Park will be completed this week. Placing topsoil may cause intermediate one way traffic. Arch Park will still be closed to the public until the sod reaches maturity.

The corner of East Main and 1st street is closed to thru traffic but local traffic is allowed. Flaggers will be on site to assist and coordinate traffic. Pedestrians will have access with the assistance of flaggers and controlled walkways through the construction zone. Access for Rafting Companies on East Park Street will continue through construction.

Public update meetings are held weekly on Mondays at 5:30 PM in the Gardiner Community Center.

Portions of Shields River Road and Shields River Campground To Close

Livingston, MT... The Custer Gallatin National Forest will be closing a section of the lower loop of the Shields River Road #844 and the Shields River Camp Ground from June 16th through July 29th 2016. The closure is needed to address public safety concerns while the construction of a fish barrier and a bridge is ongoing and heavy equipment is operating in close proximity to the campground.

The closed section will extend for 2.8 miles on the north (lower) loop of the Shields River Road from the “Y” at Serrett Creek up to the Crandall Creek Cabin access road. The Crandall Creek cabin will remain open throughout construction and can be accessed via the south (upper) loop of the Shields River Road. This route requires a high clearance vehicle due to the ford at Dugout Creek. Distance from the “Y” to the Crandall Creek cabin via the upper loop is 12 miles. Cabin visitors should be aware that construction noise may occur from dawn until dusk each day.

The purpose of the fish barrier is to secure 27 miles of connected Yellowstone cutthroat (YCT) habitat in the upper Shields River Drainage as a stronghold from competition and hybridization with nonnative fish. YCT are designated as a sensitive species and Montana species of special concern due to substantial reductions in distribution and abundance within its historic range. The Shields River basin in the Crazy Mountains is a stronghold for Yellowstone cutthroat trout and is strategically important for YCT conservation range-wide as it includes high elevation habitat at the northern extent of the species range, both of which provide resistance to climate change.

Unfortunately, nonnative brook trout have invaded a number of streams, including the headwaters in the northeast portion of the watershed. Fish population monitoring shows that once established, brook trout rapidly displace Yellowstone cutthroat trout in these small headwater streams. For example, in the neighboring Smith Creek watershed, brook trout were rare in the 1970s, but had almost entirely displaced Yellowstone cutthroat trout by 2003. From 2009 to present, state Federal, Wildlife Conservation Society, and Montana State University personnel have sampled streams throughout the watershed upstream of Smith Creek and found brook trout are rapidly spreading to and within streams where they had not been present just a few years before. This project in conjunction with brook trout removal (mechanical removal authorized under a 2015 FWP EA) will ensure that YCT are present in the upper Shields watershed for the enjoyment of current and future generations.

For more information please call the Livingston Ranger District at \(406\) 222-1892 or visit us online at www.fs.usda.gov/custergallatin.
